OLD GLORY EVERYWHERE.

Pageantry and Oratory the Order of the Day.

A VAST CONCOURSE PRESENT

Speeches of Judge Douglas and Mr. Taylor—A Historic Day in Many Ways—The Road Races.

Yesterday was a day of pageantry and patriotism, a day of pride for the past and rejoicing in the present. It is doubtful if in the history of Greensboro, at least, there has been a Fourth of July when every one was so glad to be an American citizen and so fully cognizant of what American citizenship means.

From year to year, through the patriotic and untiring efforts of Judge David Schenck, the Guilford Battle Ground celebrations have grown in excellence and popular interest. Yesterday, in public and in private, he was the recipient of many congratulations upon the splendid success of his efforts. The town, the country and the state are due him thanks for preserving to after generations Guilford Battle Ground with all its historic associations.

At ten in the morning a magnificent parade, led by young ladies on horseback, representing the states and followed by carriages decked in the national colors and filled with prominent speakers, by the fire companies with their apparatus and the marshals of the day on horseback, wended its way through the streets. It was a fine spetacle and was witnessed by thousands along the route.

Besides the large number who went out on horseback, on wheels and in carriages the special trains over the C. F. and Y. V. railway, at intervals of forty minutes, were filled to the full capacity of standing room. It is estimated that between 7,000 and 8,000 people were present when Col. Joseph Morehead arose to introduce Rev. L. W. Crawford, who opened the exercises with prayer. The deepest reverence was manifested by the crowd while the Rev. Mr. Crawford uttered a prayer of fervent thanksgiving for the blessings of freedom, the news of victory from our army at the front and asked a divine blessing on the wounded, who fell fighting for humanity.

The orator of the day, Judge Robt. M. Douglas was next introduced. The speaker delivered a most polished and eloquent address upon the "Life and Character of Governor Alexander Martin." The address, in full, was too lengthy for publication, but the opening remarks were so timely that they are given. Judge Douglas said:

Mr. President: We meet here today to celebrate the anniversary of a nation's birth on a spot consecrated by the life blood of her faithful sons freely given in her defense in the weakest hour of her infancy.

It is hard to realize that only one hundred and twenty-two years have passed since that starry flag was first given to the free air of its native heaven. Today it floats on every sea, representing a nation whose material power dominates the western hemisphere, and casts its broadening shadow across the world. Infinitely greater is the influence of the moral principles which it represents as the emblem of the most perfect union of liberty and of law that the world has ever seen.

A careful study of the birth, growth and decline of the great nations and peoples within historic times, which seem to have been regulated by some fixed laws whose nature we cannot comprehend, but whose existence we are forced to admit, plainly indicates that we are yet far from the meridian of our national life. What our future may be no human judgment can foretell; but I have a firm conviction that the future destinies of the world are in the hands of the English speaking people. One in blood and in language, governed substantially by the same laws and moved by the same high aspirations, separated alone by the natural landmarks that define the limits of their respective influence, they will go on together in perfect harmony, in the accomplishment of their great mission, with a single purpose and perhaps to a common destiny.

Already the magnificent empire of Spain has gone to decay and her imperial power lies with her sunken fleet in Manila bay, both mere memories of the past. She is still keeping up a hopeless contest for dynastic reasons, but Sampson's guns are tolling the death knell of her dominion on the great continent she once claimed by right of discovery and of conquest

Whatever may be the results of this war, as to territorial expansion, it was entered into with evident reluctance by the American people, and only from the highest sense of national duty and self protection. Once in, we know but one way out.

Terrible as war must always be it has its compensations in the patriotism it engenders and the heroism it develops. In spite of our sorrow, we cannot but feel a mournful pride that North Carolina, ever last in the quarrel and first in the fight, offered up the first sacrifice upon the altar of our re-united land.

Our own Worth Bagley, brave as the bravest, and tender, loving and true as becomes the brave, standing at the post of duty and smiling gently in the face of danger, calmly met the embrace of death.

Nations, like individuals, have their infancy as well as their manhood; and the patriot who guards the cradle of a new born state deserves fully as much as the hero who follows its conquering banner in the full tide of its imperial power. Rome, stern, heroic Rome, not only deified her founder, but held in the highest veneration and perpetuated in the most enduring form, the memory of the she wolf which suckled him in his helpless infancy on the Palatine Hill.

The glorious victory of Manila, in its completeness, was not as important in itself or in its effect upon the destinies of mankind, as the battle of Guilford Court House. Had there been no Guilford Court House there could have been no Yorktown; and had there been no Yorktown there could have been no Manila. The roar of Dewey's 8 inch guns was, in historic result, but the echo of the squirrel rifles fired across yonder field by the Guilford militia.

Since the devoted labors of Judge Schenck but little is left to be said about the battle itself; and so it has become usual for the annual orators to select some revolutionary personage as the subject of his address. Custom, as well as a certain degree of necessity, has generally imposed this duty upon some kinsman of the patriotic dead.

As the old Romans thought the duty of eulogy rested upon the nearest surviving relative, under the idea that he was best qualified to speak of the virtures of the deceased; so it is thought that those who proudly claim the kindred blood will make the greatest effort to collect from the scattered and exceedingly imperfect records of that period the necessary facts to perpetuate the memory of our illustrious dead. Thus I am here today to give a brief outline of the life and character of Governor Alexander Martin.

After Judge Douglas had received the congratulations of his friends, Mr. Z. V. Taylor, was introduced and presented a fine portrait of Washington in behalf of the artist, Mr. David L. Clark, of High Point. Mr. Taylor is fast winning laurels as one of the most eloquent young speakers of the state and he ably sustained the expectations of his friends. Mr. Taylor said:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:

In speaking of the heroism of that little band under General Ramseur which protected Lee's rear while he was retreating from the fatal field of Gettysburg, Virginius Dabney in singling out the North Carolinians by name declares that he does it not more on account of their valor than their modesty. And while it is true that modesty is a virtue most highly to be prized, yet I must declare that it is indeed hard for me to understand that modesty which stands patiently by and sees the flower of its manhood lay down their lives in defence of a glorious cause and allow others, who contributed not one half the men or one fourth the valor, to claim, and be accredited with, all the glory.

That modesty is to me hard to understand, but if it be hard to understand how utterly incomprehensible is that spirit—sometimes miscalled modesty—which sits calmly by and hears the fair names of its Revolutionary heroes blackened by slander without raising a vice in protest. That spirit of malicious envy which seems to have been the curse of all nations and of all times, and which naught delights so much as to be able to cast a smirch upon the character of true manhood and virtue, in those days pointed the finger of reproach at men whose shoes they unworthy to loose and our own people have not only made no effort to refute these falsehoods, but in many instances have given credence thereto by quoting with approval.

Mr. President, those of us who remembered this spot as it existed a few years ago—a tangled forest—and see it now in all of its beauty, have cause to remember with gratitude your patriotic devotion to your country's history. Our bosoms swell with pride when we see here and there dotting these slopes the symmetrical monuments, erected by your tireless energy. But it is not on account of the one or the other that true North Carolinians

WAR DEPARTMENT SILENT.

Refuses to Make Public Despatches From Shafter.

TEN THOUSAND MORE TROOPS.

Being Hurried to Santiago—Sampson and Shafter Ordered to Co-operate and Take the City.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, July 5—Despatches were received this morning from Gen. Shafter which the officials refuse to divulge. The despatches probably tell of Pando's entering Santiago with reinforcements. The various departments are waiting with the greatest anxiety for news of the bombardment which Shafter announced would begin at noon today. The arrival of Pando and his troops and their entrance of the city, despite the efforts of Garcia to keep them out, adds greatly to the uncertainty of the situation. Great relief will be felt in all quarters here when news of a successful onslaught on the city is received. Greater haste was shown this morning in sending reinforcements and ammunition to Shafter. Garretson's brigade of the third army corps will be sent to Santiago from Charleston tomorrow by the fastest ships available, probably by the Harvard, Columbia and Yale. The eighth Ohio regiment started for New York this morning, where it will embark on the St. Paul. General Henry and his staff will accompany the expedition. The sixth Massachusetts and sixth Illinois regiments will embark from Charleston. The Grand Duchess Bons has been secured to transport the first Rhode Island and it will embark at once on that vessel. The officials expect to hove 10,000 additional troops under Shafter by the end of the week.

ORDERS TO SAMPON.

Washington, July 5—Secretary Alger states that he has cabled Admiral and General Shafter to hold a conference and formulate a plan to co-operate in the attack upon Santiago. The feeling prevails that the siege of the city will be prosecuted with the utmost vigor since the refusal of Linares to surrender.

HOW MADRID SEES IT.

Madrid, July 5—General Blanco reports to Sagasta that Admiral Cervera broke through the center of the American blockading line and escaped The last official reports admit that two torpedo boats were lost.

FOURTH EXPEDITION.

San Francisco, July 5—In accordance with the wishes of the war department General Otis, in command here, proposes to hasten the fourth Manila expedition with all possible despatch. General Otis now has four ships ready to transport troops and so soon as the stores and equipment are secured the expedition will sail via Honolulu.

WAITING FOR WATSON.

London, July 5—Despatches from Gibraltar state that in anticipation of the arrival of the American fleet under Watson the German battleship Oldenburg has been sent to Tangier to protect German interests. The Americans can take Tangier without difficulty and use it as a naval base for operations against the coasts of Spain.

SPANISH CRUISER BURNING.

Gibraltar, June 5—The Spanish Cruiser Alfonso XII lately arrived from Cuba, is afire. The vessel had been used as a troop ship. The dispatch seems to indicate that the fire was accidental.

TIME REQUIRED.

Washington, July 5—At the navy department it was said this morning that it was not expected that Sampson would be able to get into the harbor to aid Shafter immediately. The forts and batteries on shore are in good condition and there are 120 mines still intact in the channel leading to the inner harbor. It is not probable that the fleet will attempt to go into the harbor at present or until the channel can be cleared of its mines.

IN THE SUEZ AGAIN.

Port Said, July 5—The Spanish fleet under Camara, with the exception of the torpedo boats has entered the Suez Canal.

CARRYING OFF BRITISHERS.

Kingston, July 5—The British warships Pallas and Alert left here this morning for Santiago to bring off the British subjects there before the bombardment by the Americans begins.

HURRYING TO SHAFTER.

New York, July 5—The Mohawk and Mississippi cleared from this port this morning for Tampa under hurry orders from the navy department. At Tampa they will take on reinforcements for General Shafter.

An Answer to Inquiries.

A number of people have enquired as to why the Telegram did not issue an exta yesterday. There were two reasons:

In the first place there was a specific agreement made with the Daily Record at ten o'clock in the morning that neither paper would issue an extra.

In the second place the Telegram had agreed with the public to give the news as bulletins and with its tired compositors and pressmen to give them a holiday.

A PLEASANT OUTING.

The City Editor's Cruise Down Deep River.

On Tuesday morning, June 28, the city editor and manager of the Telegram, in company with J. M. Phillips, started from Ramseur in a canoe for a cruise down Deep river. The boat was built specially for this trip and was admirally suited for the purpose. Plentifully supplied with provisions, breech loading rifles and rapid fire guns we weighed anchor and set sail.

The weather was exceedingly favorable and the rain on Sunday preceding had raised the water so that going down stream traveling was made quite easy.

After two days of rowing through the lakes and bounding through rapids, dodging huge boulders and dangerous whirlpools, we reached the Phillips plantation about dusk of the second day. It was a delightful trip. Rough? Well, yes, in some places it was rough; but yet we liked it. We expected rough places, went prepared for them and were not disappointed.

We found plenty of shooting along the way; but did not stop to hunt until we reached the end of the journey where we visited old familiar haunts, and several beautiful nut crackers fell at the crack of our rifles. The fish did not suffer to any very alarming extent and there are almost as many in the river as there was before our trip. There are fewer snakes and terrapins.

Watermelons are not yet ripe along the river, the orchards are too far away and roasting ear corn is not yet in silks, and consequently the farmers have little cause to complain of depredations along the way.

It is impossible, however, to make a trip like this without running the risk of getting into trouble. While in the old Howard or Moffitt mill pond a water bird of gigantic proportions made a splendid mark on the north bank of the river among some limbs and a rifle ball was sent whistling by him. At this point the river runs in a northeast direction. A little further on the river makes a sudden bend in a southerly direction. Just beyond this bend and on the south side of the river was a negro plowing a blind mare and two negro women hoeing corn.

We were hailed by the man: "Say, dat you men shootin' up de river?"

"Yes," I answered, "what of it?"

"Well, dat bullet come awhizzin' 'long by heah an' lak ter hit dis mare. Ef she hadn't a seed it acomin' an' dodge 'er head it 'ud er hit her, sho'." And both the women testified that his statement was correct.

This incident is worth your attention a moment. A bullet fired in a northeasterly direction traveled due south, was seen by a blind mare who dodged her head in time to avoid being killed.

A Course in Spanish.

The University of North Carolina will offer Spanish to all of its students in the modern language department, beginning with the fall term. The course of modern language in most colleges consists of French and German only, but Spanish is the North American language and next to English is spoken more largely than any language on earth. In view of the probable occupation of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines by American arms and the consequent influx into these countries of large numbers of American youth, willing and anxious to share in their upbuilding, a knowledge of the Spanish tongue is very necessary.

It is said on high authority that the governor has no authority to appoint officers to fill vacancies in regiments after muster-in.

Our baby has been continually troubled with colic and cholera infantum since his birth, and all that we could do for him did not seem to give more than temporary relief, until we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Since giving that remedy he has not been troubled. We want to give you this testimonial as an evidence of our gratitude, not that you need it to advertise your meritorious remedy.—G. M. SAMPSON IN THE HARBOR?

Signal Officers Cable General Greely That He Is.

SANTIAGO WOULD NOT YIELD.

Bombardment Began at Noon—Shafter Expects an Attack on His Position—Fighting at Manila.

On Sunday the Spanish fleet, under Admiral Cervera, ran from the harbor of Santiago by the sunken collier, Merrimac and attempted to escape to the open sea.

The Cristobal Colon, Cervera's flagship led the way, closely followed by the Almirante Oquendo, Infanta Maria Teresa and Vizcaya, and two torpedo boat destroyers, the Furor and the Pluton. They passed out under full steam and were immediately engaged by the United States battleships Iowa, Indiana, Oregon, Massachusetts, Texas, Brooklyn and the converted yacht Gloucester formerly the Corsair. The Furor and Pluton were destroyed within four miles of the harbor and all the others were blown up, burned or sunk within twenty miles, except the Cristobal Colon which succeeded in getting about sixty miles away, but was run down and captured with the Spanish Admiral on board.

A despatch from Commander Watson says that 350 Spaniards were drowned or killed, 160 wounded and 1,600 captured.

American loss, one man on board the Brooklyn, Chief Yeoman Ellis, and only one man wounded.

Santiago was summoned to surrender at noon on yesterday and given twenty-four hours to surrender. The bombardment probably began at noon today as appears from despatches below.

SAMPSON IN THE HARBOR?

Washington, July 5—Gen. Greeley, chief of the army signal service corps, received despatches from signal service officers at the front just before noon today stating that Sampson had forced the channel and was then in the inner harbor of Santiago.

FIGHTING AT MANILA.

London, July 5—Advices received from Manila via Hong Kong state that the Spanish leader, Gen. Augustin, made a sortie in force for the purpose of repairing the aqueduct which supplies water to the city. The insurgents concentrated their forces and after several hours of fierce fighting drove the Spaniards back into the city. Both sides suffered severe losses in the battle.

SAMPSON TO AID SHAFTER.

Washington, July 5—Advices have been received from Admiral Sampson stating that he has endeavored to explode the mines in the channel leading to the inner harbor of Santiago but had succeeded in detonating a few of them only. The Spanish batteries at Smith Island, Morro Castle and La Socapa are still active and are manned. They fired on the American ships this morning when near the mouth of the harbor. The administration, despite the batteries and mines, expects Sampson to force the channel and co-operate with Shafter from the inner harbor in the attack on Santiago. It is stated this morning that the Spaniards, probably encouraged by the arrival of Pando with five thousand reinforcements, have refused to surrender in reply to the demand of Shafter who has expressed a determination to begin the bombardment of the city at noon today in accordance with his notice.

READY TO OPEN FIRE.

Siboney, via Kingston July 5—6 a. m—Already the men are at the front and manning the batteries planted on the ridges frowning down on Santiago. The gunners are eagerly awaiting the signal to open fire on the doomed city. After the receipt of Linares' refusal to surrender the city, General Shafter decided that no time was to be lost in carrying into effect his threat to bombard and lay siege to the city. The respite of twenty-four hours was granted at the request of the foreign consuls in Santiago and was a keen disappointment to Shafter, especially as it gave Pando time to arrive with his troops. Since the arrival of re-enforcements it is expected the Spaniards will make a sortie in a desperate attempt to dislodge the American troops from the positions they have secured or to break through the American lines and so escape. General Shafter has no fear that such an attempt will succeed.

The Manila expedition did a little work on its own hook on the way.

The joyful emotions of the Spanish cabinet have not yet been heard from.

Lieutenant Hobson is likely to find an opportunity to make his promotion useful to his country before he is many days older.

With the arrival of the American transports at Manila the fall of that city can be only a matter of a few days. It is probable that Aguinaldo and his men have been kept without its walls thus far more by Dewey than by the Spanish commander.

In the death of Lieutenant Ship North Carolina is called upon to mourn another brave son. He was well and favorably known and the expressions of regret at his loss are many and genuine. The war is bringiag to the old state much honor—and sorrow for the men who purchase honor so dearly.

If there be any jot of wisdom left in Spain she will sue for peace when to protract the struggle is merely murdering her sons. She can get from her continuance of the war no possible benefit. Her doom is sealed and if Sagasta protracts the struggle in the vain hope of saving the crown of Spain and his own place he merely writes himself the greatest criminal of the century. It is no longer war, it is useless butchery.

It is next to impossible to write calmly of the magnificent piece of work accomplished by the fleet under Sampson at Santiago. We can find a parallel for it only in the history of the present war. There has been a disposition on the part of a large number of people to criticize Sampson for his conduct of the naval campaign. Now Sampson and Dewey are on a level in popular estimation. "I present to the American people on the Fourth of July the whole of Cervera's squadron," will take its place in our naval history alongside that other famous despatch—"We have met the enemy and they are ours." Meantime justice should be done the enemy. To run into the teeth of a squadron vastly superior to his own and fight to the end was not the act of a coward. Admiral Cervera displayed a courage that makes his defeat almost an honor It is what a brave people expected of the man who sent them word under a flag of truce that Hobson and his crew were safe. "Defeated but not dishonored" will be the verdict that history pronounces upon Admiral Cervera—a man worthy of a better cause and a better fate—"a soldier and a gentleman."

OLD GLORY EVERYWHERE.

will be most grateful to you, but when first of all, you brushed away the accumulated falsehood of a century which had been heaped upon the North Carolina militia and erected for them, upon the firm foundation of truth, a monument to their valor you placed upon us and posterity a debt which we can never repay.

Catching that spirit from you, at each succeeding annual celebration, some one of our state's great men has come here and refuted the vile slanders of a century, and on each recurring celebration there has been presented to this company, drawn by the skillful hand of North Carolina's truest artist, a portrait of some one of those Revlutionary heroes, which, hung upon the walls of your museum, seems to smile approval upon the noble work you have here begun.

Already there beams from the walls of your museum the faces of Hughes, Hooper, Penn, Greene, Col. William Washington and the president of the Battle Ground company, and to this galaxy today is to be added the face of him who was "first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his fellow citizens,"—and all these are the gifts of David L. Clark—the artist, the patriot.

In presenting you with this portrait, Mr. President, I can but think that the artist was not only inspired in his work, but equally so in the selection of his subject; for who of all others would take more delight in the vindication of his friend, Governor Alexander Martin, which has been so eloquently done today, than he whose life was the embodiment of truth and justice?

And while perhaps the face of Washington here portrayed may not be as familiar to most of us as some others representing him at an earlier period of his life, yet it portrays him at that time when his face is most interesting and most lovable—just before the close of life, when looking back over the stormy scenes of the past he sees as the result of his labors the consummation of all he had hoped and fought for. It is then that he is ready to "wrap the drapery of his couch about him and lie down to pleasant dreams."

"Let such pictures as David's Napoleon—with prancing steed, flashing eye, waving sword—represent the mere victor and military genius; but he who spurned a crown, knew no watchword but duty, no goal but freedom and justice and no reward but the approval of conscience and the gratitude of a country, lives more appropriately both to memory and in art, under the aspect of a finished life, crowned with the harvest of honor and peace, and serene in the consummation of disinterested purpose."

Accept then from this venerable patriot—David L. Clark—whose eye thank Heaven time has not dimmed and whose hand is still true to the impulses of a heart whose every throb is for his country's good name, this portrait of him whose greatness was only equalled by his truthfulness and goodness. Let that noble face hung upon your walls speak from the canvas to generations yet unborn, telling them that the nation's most dangerous foe is not the enemy who hammers and thunders at our gates from without, but the insidious wretch who strikes at the very heart of our national life from within, by lowering our ideals in traducing the fair fame of our dead heroes, that what is true of individuals is equally so of states. "That he who steals my purse steals trash, but he who filches from me, my good name robs me of which naught enricheth him and leaves me poor indeed."

Mr. A. B. Kimball, in a few well chosen remarks, accepted the picture on behalf of the Battle Ground company.

After the exercises hundreds of people took luncheon on the grounds and spent the afternoon in the shade of the fine old oaks on the Battle Ground. Judge Schenck entertained a large number of friends and visitors at his table on the grounds.

Before and after the exercises the High Point cornet band played popular and stirring airs and added greatly to the pleasures of the day.

At 5 o'clock occurred the bicycle road road races from the Battle Ground to Greensboro, a distance of six miles. There were four scratch starters—H. L. Reynolds and John Thomas, of Greensboro; Thomas V. Pfaff, of Winston, and J. W. Wilson, of Summerfield. The prizes, winners and time follows:

First Prize—Golf bicycle suit, given by Matthews, Chisholm & Stroud, won by Thomas Pfaff. Time, 18m10s.

Second Prize—Pair bicycle shoes, given by the Carolina Shoe Co., S. B. Norris, Manager, won by H. L. Reynolds. Time, 19m11s.

Third Prize—Harris Diamond bicyle lamp, given by Wingate Bros., won by John Thomas. Time, 19m28s.

Mr. Wilson fell by the wayside.

Throngs of people took advantage of the excursion rates from adjoining towns and all incoming trains were crowded. Everywhere the national colors floated from wheels, carriages and buildings. At the Battle Ground he pavilions were tastefully decorated with flags, and red, white and blue bunting.

After the return from the grounds vast crowds thronged the sidewalks in front of the Telegram bulletins and as dispatch after dispatch was posted showing the completeness of the American victory, enthusiasm reached fever heat. Nothing could be heard on the streets afterwards but praise for Admiral Sampson and the brave sailors, who had followed the glorious exple set by Dewey at Manila.

Taken all in all, we shall not soon see such another Fourth of July.

Piano Pointers.

Mr. C. J. Brockmann is with the old reliable Southern Music House, Ludden & Bates. The concern has been established since 1870 and have placed thousands of pianos in Southern homes. They control the splendid Mathushek and the Huntington pianos and are exclusive Southern agents for Steinway pianos and Mason & Hamlin organs. Having plenty of capital they are prepared to sell on long time as well as for cash. In prices Mr, Brockmann is prepared to meet any competition as he has no sub-agency, but is straightout representative of the New York House, and as he will do the business with no store expense or long distance traveling, can figure very close. Leave word at Wharton Bros. and I will call and see you. Respectfully,

Chas. J. Brockmann,

The Dance Last Night.

There were about twice as many couples on the floor at the marshals' ball at the McAdoo last night as could dance comfortably, and the mercury was sizzling, but neither detracted in the least from the joyousness of the occasion. It was the remark of one gentleman of long apprenticeship that it was seldom that so many handsome couplies had appeared upon the ball room floor here as participated in the dance last night. There were numbers of young people present from other towns and in the crush it was impossible to get all the names. The couples present so far as ascertained were:

Miss Irving Scales, Zeb Taylor; Miss Annie Coles, of Chatham, Va., W. R. Land; Miss Annie Shober, Miss Lettie Shober, Julien Gorham, of South Carolina; Miss Margaret DeButts, T. S Horry; Miss Vivien Shober, W. J. Horney; Miss Mary Meade Bernard, of Petersburg, Va., Charles McGill; Miss Clara Stewart, F. W. Cone; Miss Katherine Coles, of Chatham, Va., J. OUR COLORED TROOPS.

D. J. Gilmer, First Lieutenant, Dr. Dellinger Assistant Surgeon.

A special from Fort Macon says D. J. Gilmer was elected captain of the Greensboro company of colored volunteers. The company having but forty men they were united with another company having sixty men. D. J. Gilmer was then made first lieutenant of the new company and D. J. E. Dellinger assistant surgeon. Cardell Sloan was appointed first sergeant.

Wesley Smith stood the physical examination all right and was sworn in.

Five of the Greensboro volunteers came near drowning Saturday and had it not been for some of the Wilmington volunteers who were familiar with the water they would have been lost. The regiment band is rotten.

To Hobson.

Here's a glass to Hobson,
Brave Hobson of the south,
Who, for the sake of country,
Feared not the cannon's mouth,
'Twas duty called upon him,
'Twas country led him on,
'Twas God who gave him courage,
To lead the hope forlorn.

Guns thundered from the hill tops,
Guns thundered from their base,
Shot burst from ev'ry quarter,
Hell yawned into his face.
On kept bold young Hobson,
On, on he held his way,
With the gallant Merrimac,
Sealed up the Spanish bay.

Has has the name of Hobson
Lit bright bright upon her roll;
Of the world's grand heroes,
He had a braver soul!
Here's a glass to Hobson,
Brave Hobson of the south,
For the sake of country,
And the cannon's mouth.

FISHBLATE-KATZ-RANKIN COMPANY,

HIGH ART CLOTHIERS,

OPPOSITE THE McADOO HOUSE.

Colored Company Pleased.

Fort Macon, July 4th.

To the Editor of the Telegram:

The companies have not been formed at this writing, but will here state the Greensboro company will probarly be well represented in the question of officers, will probably have a staff place as first assistant surgeon and either a captain or 1st lieutenant, with one or two other minor places.

The friends of the negroes in North Carolina will be interested to know that under the regulations no intoxicants are allowed in camp. A drunk soldier can never be seen here.

Another feature of interest is the work being carried on by the Young Men's Christian Association under the direction of Prof. N. C. Bruce, of Shaw University. This work is kept up by voluntary contribution and is worthy the attention of the good people of Greensboro.

To return to our boys, they are a jolly lot, impatient only to be mustered in and assigned to duty. I am sure they will in due time give good account of themselves. They have made a fine impression on the camp. Officers say they are all and all the most likely looking set of men yet sent into camp. J. E. Dellinger.

Cevera's Prayer.

Backward, turn backward,
O, Time in thy flight;
Put me outside again,
Just for tonight—
Out where the sea stretches far, far away—
Out of the bottle they've made of this bay—
Put me outside again,
Out on the sea,
And the record, you bet,
Will be captured by me.

Baby's Face.

Dexter, Granville Co., N. C., March 30, 1898.

MRS. JOE PERSON,

Dear Madam—About the last of December there appeared something like heat on our baby's face. On the fourth sunday in January his face and head were filled with running sores and he suffered severely. We were satisfied the dreadful disease was eczema. On the above mentioned day Rev. K. D. Holmes and Mr. Herbert E. Crews recommended to us in the highest terms, Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy. With the great confidence we had in these gentlemen, we proceeded at once to use it. Two months later, the fourth Sunday in March, Rev. Mr. Holmes saw the same child and could scarcely recognize him. The child is seven months old, his face is well, and there are only slight signs of the disease about his head. He is the picture of health and is hearty and strong. We gladly recommend Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy for all forms of eczema, and think that it is the bast blood purifier on the market. With best wishes, I am,

Your friend,
D. N. HUNT.

WILL GULLEDGE KILLS HIMSELF

His Gun Accidentally Discharged Blowing His Brains Out.

Wadesboro, July 4—This morning a shadow was cast over our town by the fearful intelligence that Mr. Will Gulledge, of Deep Creek neighborhood, had killed himself. He was up just about daylight to feed his stock and on returning to his house saw a hawk after some chickens in the yard. He hurried into the house for his gun, which was standing just behind the back of the bed. In taking it from this position the gun was discharged. The whole load took effect just under Mr. Gulledge's chin, tearing the entire front of his face off and scattering his brains all over the bed, some of which fell upon his wife, who was in bed.

The shock was so terrible to Mr. Gulledge's young wife that it rendered her insensible, and grave fears are entertained as to her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Gulledge were a very young copule, having only married last November. The deceased is a son of Mr. William Gulledge, and one of Anson's most estimable young farmers. His wife is a daughter of E. D. Gaddy, of Deep Creek vicinity. The shocking news will be read by all Ansonians with bowed heads and heavy hearts.

The Game Yesterday.

The game of ball yesterday afternoon between Reidsville and Greensboro resulted in favor of the latter. Score 15 to 11. Causey was the star for Greensboro, pulling his team out of a bad hole by his fine work in the box. Tucker in the box and Barnes at third did star work for Reidsville. Barnes' left hand running catch of a foul fly could not be surpassed in the national league. His stick work was also good. The umpiring of Mr. J. E. Howard of Greensboro gave satisfaction to both sides.

Struck by Ligtning.

Salem, Mass., July 4—The excursion steamer Surifity, plying between here and Baker Island, was struck this evening by lightning and sunk. It is not known how many were on board, but is said there were over 300. Many, however, were rescued by boats from the shore.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News from Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, N. C., July 5, '98.

High Point did not celebrate the 4th with any exuberant demonstrations, but many of them participated in the exercises elsewhere. It was the writer's pleasure to attend the celebration at Randleman on Saturday the 2nd and to listen to the excellent speeches of Prof. McIver, of Greensboro and Dr. Creasy, of Winston, in the morning and Hon. Wiley Rush, of Asheboro, in the afternoon. The speech of Prof. McIver was on his favorite subject "Education" and his subject was ably treated and will doubtless have great effect for good in the next election for school appropriations in Randolph county. Dr. Creasy spoke more directly to the Odd Fellows and his talk contained much valuable data and information concerning the order He said Odd Fellowship was good but was only secondary to the church and his advice was to be not only good Odd Fellows but good christians. Another interesting part of the program was the table of tempting eatables which had been so carefully prepared and was so gracefully presided over by Mrs. S. G. Newton and the ladies of Randleman.

The speech of Wiley Rush in the afternoon was upon a popular subject, "Patriotism" and was attentively listened to. This event has added another star to the brilliant crown of this progressive city and that its citizens may live to have many more such occasions, was the wish of all who attended.

The celebration at the Battle Ground took away all the people and news from our city yesterday, and were it not for the excitement caused by the run away of a horse and the glorious news from Santiago the day would have passed without an incident worthy of mention. The factories all shut down and the banks, postoffice and several places of business were closed.

Letter From Santiago.

Mr. J. T. Abbott, of this city, has received a letter from his son Charles Abbott, who is in hospital service of the Second Artillery of the regular army. The letter was written on the 25th of June, two days after the landing of troops. Mr. Abbott reported that none of the troops had suffered from the trip or the landing. He described the bombardment of the coast by the American ships previous to the landing of troops as an exceeding grand spectacle, the ships standing off shore and pouring in shot and shell with the regularity of machines. Mr. Abbott reported his health excellent as was that of all the troops at the writing.

The Cape Fear and Northern.

Work is progressing on the survey of the Cape Fear and Northern railroad. Prof. J. M. Bandy, of Greensboro, one of the best civil engineers in the state, has charge of the work, and it will be well done.—News and Observer.

Mr. Temple to Ride.

At the lawn party tomorrow night at Mrs. Ballard's for the benefit of the Ladies Aid Society, of St. Andrews church, Mr. Temple, an expert bicyclist who has recently come to Greensboro, will give an exhibition of fancy and trick riding. Ice cream and cake served.

Remember the Boys.

Mr. H. W. Wharton will go to Raleigh tomorrow night to visit the Greensboro soldier boys in camp at that place. He requests us to say to the public that he will be glad to carry any articles of clothing, food or other gifts, which may be left at Wharton Bros' book store in time to be packed before his departure.

Blood Brains Money

A sick man can't make money That's because his brain wont work. A horse wont do work unless he is properly fed. Neither will a brain. If the brain is not kept in good condition with pure, rich blood, it wont produce much.

Men who fail, and men who don't, often have what they call "Nervous Prostration." Nine times in ten the nervous trouble is purely secondary. The real sickness is in their digestion and in their blood. If a man keeps his digestion in good order, and keeps his body full of pure, rich blood, he is never going to be very sick.

Johnston's Sarsaparilla is made for people who want to get well and stay well. Sarsaparilla is a simple, "grandmother" remedy, but it cures. It purifies and enriches the blood and sends it tingling to every part of the body. That is the way it cures all ailments of the brain and nerves—cures insomnia—cures dyspepsia, rheumatism, scrofula, and every other blood disease. It clears the complexion, plumps out the cheeks, and brings back the sparkle to lifeless eyes.

One Dollar is the price, and One thousand Dollars is the health-giving value of every Quart Bottle of Johnston's Sarsaparilla

An Escaped Convict.

An officer from Newport, Tenn., passed through Sunday afternoon with an escaped convict who had enlisted in the second regiment at Raleigh. The prisoner's name is Ulysses Grant Wilson. He became tired of camp life and wrote to the sheriff of his county to come and take him back to his old place on the county road. He has about six months to serve yet.

The city editor of this paper is indebted to Mr. R. H. Seawell, who resides about four miles south of this city, for a nice lot of peaches and plums. They were very fine and delicious.

The public well in front of the Allen House, is in a dangerous condition. A few weeks ago we called attention to this and now we do so again. It needs attention at once. There are holes through which a man's body could almost slip and it should be repaired immediately or filled up. Surely it will not be longer allowed to remain a death trap for the unwary.

Policeman Scott is a hustler. Today a strange young man was loafing about a certain place of business in this city and all at once the proprietor missed his pocket knife which he had left lying on a table. On making enquiries concerning it the aforesaid stranger got up and leisurely walked out. Suspicion at once rested on him and the proprietor immediately reported the matter to Mr. Scott giving a description both of the man and the knife. In five minutes the knife was returned by Mr. Scott and the young man was under arrest.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. W. M. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R. I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrated me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction." For sale by C. E. Holton.

The Whisett Catalogue.

The annual register of Whitsett Institute is at hand and shows in a measure the excellent work done by this institution during the past year and the advantages it offers to students. The growth in public favor of the school is the greatest testimonial to its worth. This is the tenth anniversary of its existence. It was opened in 1888, enrolling only sixty-eight students during that year. During the past year the enrollment was 296. The faculty is composed of thorough educators under the able supervision of Pres. William Thorton Whitsett, a gentleman of high literary gifts and scholarly attainments. All the departments show a healthy patronage. We are proud of the work this institution is doing in the county.

There is to be a call for negro troops. The Adjutant General says that under this North Carolina will get at least one regiment.
